

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

Although in St. Louis, from a competitive standpoint, we are beneficiaries of the zone system, it is another discriminatory law intentionally oppressive.

The campaign for a free press must include the same rate for all and no free service. The special low rates to fraternal and secret societies must be done away with. All American publications should be equal before the law. The only concern of the Post Office Department with publications should be to receive the postage and perform the service paid for.

Another thing must be considered. The Press is not a unit. In my experience the daily is against all other classes, and is satisfied with loss of principle for financial advantage. The weekly paper owners are in favor of regulating monthly publications out of business. The publishers of expensive publications are in favor of the cheap publications not being allowed to use premiums or sample copies that minimize the cost of getting subscriptions; in other words, the Press of the Nation is not altogether willing to be free.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

H. H. P.

LET THEM LEARN!

SIR,—What is the status of German emigration, as far as America, including Latin America, is concerned? Are Germans who have made their way into Sweden and Norway eligible to enter Latin America at this time, and will the Germans be allowed to enter this country when peace is declared?

This should be prevented.

Bar the Germans from America now and forever. Lock them up in their own land until they pay for their crimes in toil and suffering. Let them learn by experience what they would have inflicted on us, and in a small measure, what they inflicted on France and Belgium. Let them learn what domination means to the dominated. Let them learn the reverse side of "Deutschland über Alles."

NEW YORK CITY.

JAY LEWIS.

A DIFFERENCE IN CENSORS

SIR,—I desire to have it understood that my criticisms of the Censorship in my article in the December REVIEW, "The News Embargo," are not intended to include that which Brigadier-General Marlborough Churchill has ably directed from Washington. As for the workings of the amusing Creel bureau, they have been vociferous for themselves and their employers.

COLUMBIA, PA.

REGINALD WRIGHT KAUFFMAN.

O DEAR, NO

SIR,—You are an expert maker of Presidents, and, as a judge of Presidential material, you grade mighty close to one hundred per cent.

After inflicting all that praise upon you, I want to know what you think of Charles M. Schwab as the next President of the United States.

BOSTON, MASS.

THOMAS DREIER.